Supreme Court Rules "Commerce Is Unit and Does Not Regard State Lines" in Decision on Test Cases.

that "commerce is a unit and does not regard state lines;" the supreme court foday, through Chief Justica Taft and without dissent, hauded down a decision upholding the authority of the Interstate Commerce commission under the transportation act of 1920, to fix state railroad passenger tares when necessary to re-move "undue, unreasonable and unjust discrimination against interstate

Two cases were presented to the court. One was brought by the rail-road commission of Wisconsin and others against the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, seeking at njunction to prevent the roads of the state from putting into effect or state passenger traffic, the rate of 36 cents a mile allowed by the government on interstate travel. The other was brought by the state of New York against the federal government, the Interstate Commerce commission and certain rail roads of that state, on the ground that the 3-cent fare fixed by the publie utility commission produced rea-sonable returns to the railroads upon their state traffic. In both states freight rates had been advanced to the interstate level without objection from the states. Seeking Best Systems

"Congress in its control of its it terstate commerce system is seeking in the transportation act to make the system adequate to the needs of the country by securing for it a reasonable compensatory return for all the work it does," the chief justice stated in the opinion. "The states are seekng to use that same system for in trastate traffice. Doukhobours Deny

Plan to Kill Children Nelson, B. C., Feb. 27.-The Doukobours of Canada, otherwise known as the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, merely expressed a theoretical advocacy o massacre of their children and aged according to the explanation now offered by Peter Veregin, president of the band, in a letter to the Daily News here. In his letter he expresses some alarm at the apparent indignation of Canadians over the announcement of the sect some days ago that the members were contion, in which event it might be found necessary to kill off children and aged persons who impeded the progress of the wanderers. After apologizing to the Canadian public, particularly the women, the Doukhobour Chieftain explains that the children of the colony are on the verge of starvation, being deprived of milk through the forced sale of cows in 1920 for the payment of taxes.
